2017 has already seen a dozen major restaurant openings, and there are plenty on the way this winter and spring. From food halls in Chicago and New York to celebrity chefs in Phoenix and Florida, and music celebrities in Miami, there's plenty of flavor to look forward to. Asheville, N.C., Los Angeles and

Milwaukee have new pizza places on the way; Minneapolis chef Gavin Kaysen is opening Bellecour in a suburb this spring; and D.C. will add California Baja and Mexican eateries.
